Board Meeting: 10:30 am

THE SOLDIERS PROJECT – COMBAT TRAUMA AND COMING HOME

by Carol Tanenbaum, PhD.

Dr. Tanenbaum is a licensed MFT and practicing psychoanalyst. She is Chairperson of the E.S. Lawrence Trauma Center, an organization committed to community outreach and providing pro-bono psychological services to at-risk populations. With over 1.8 million troops having served in Iraq and Afghanistan, our communities must prepare for their homecoming. Dr. Tanenbaum will provide us with information and guide us through important clinical considerations.

Attendees will:

Receive information on treatment of soldiers and military families

Be guided through the cycle of deployment and reintegration

Get information on the various programs that assist our military

Learn how you can help!

Can you guess who said this?

“They used to give us a day--it was called International Women's Day. In 1975 they gave us a year, the Year of the Woman. Then from 1975 to 1985 they gave us a decade, the Decade of the Woman. I said at the time, who knows, if we behave they may let us into the whole thing. Well, we didn't behave and here we are.”

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

President's Message March 2010

Did you attend our annual Law and Ethics workshop? We had a record 130 attendees. What a great turnout! What a pleasure it was to see familiar faces and meet new colleagues as well. As always, David Jensen was informative and entertaining. I would like to thank everyone for their support and specifically thank Garry Raley, Carolyn Dodd, Ben Zenke, Iris Cruz, Lena Bradley, and James Billings for their help in making this workshop a success.

Plans are currently underway to have another one-day workshop this year; we are hoping to have someone present on DBT. Our goal is to provide pertinent, low-cost CEU's for members. Watch your newsletter for more information.

Elections are coming in April. If you are interested in joining a committee or serving as a board member, please let me know.

Happy Spring!!

NEW MEETING LOCATION for IE-CAMFT

The construction project is moving along for Loma Linda MFAM Clinic. Great for them...but we will be moving our meeting to a new location for the first time in years!

On March 26th we will have our first meeting at Argosy University – Inland Empire Campus. The location is at the corner of Brier Dr. and Carnegie St. For those attendees going East on I-10, you may exit Waterman North; go right on Hospitality Lane; then left on Carnegie. For those going West on I-10 (you Redlandites!); exit on Tippecanoe to the north; then left on Brier Dr.

Argosy occupies a large office building. Our meeting will be in a large classroom with projector, etc. We use the 636 E. Brier Dr. address because our meeting location is on the Brier side of the building.

Big Success!!!

Law and Ethics Training by David Jensen, J.D. CAMFT Staff Attorney

On February 26th one hundred thirty seven therapists gathered at the Hilton to hear David share his wealth of knowledge and experience. Along the way, old acquaintances renewed and new connections were made. David wondered aloud why, in this age of cheap six hour credits online, so many Inland Empire pros dedicate a day for this event. Each of us have our own reasons, but some that come to mind include: Information from the ONLY attorney that hears from therapists daily, Q and A with colleagues, and the only L & E training with 76 slides on BBS and Case Law!

Some of the lessons that resonated for me included:

- My abbreviations and sloppy notes don't "protect" me. If called to answer, they cause more questions.
- If I don't make my notes the same day, note the actual date the note is made. Back dating raises credibility questions.
- Using "cut and paste" language and notes raises questions as to the provision of professional services.
- Confirming termination of the client/therapist relationship is advisable to avoid subsequent allegations.
- A therapist is responsible for 1)Judgement and 2)Practice. NOT the OUTCOME.
- California has clarified that information may be shared between "health care professionals" (psychotherapists, doctors, etc.) for the purposes of diagnosis or treatment, Civil Code Section 56.10 (c)(1) Standard of Care calls for me to request records .... Especially if there is a possibility of dangerousness. This exchange may be done even without a signed release!

Our chapter is honored to provide an opportunity for such quality training. But Ruth and the board will need your help next year. We are getting big!

Loan Repayment Program for MFTs

The Health Professions Education Foundation (HPEF) has announced its next application deadline - March 24, 2010 - for its loan repayment programs. Eligible professions include mental health providers and other health professions.

Loan repayments (awarded to current health professionals) range from $8,000 to $105,000. Applicants awarded a loan repayment are required to provide direct patient care in a medically underserved area for a specified period of time.

For more information on the loan repayment program, please visit HPEF's website at www.healthprofessions.ca.gov.

The CHAMMP Training Institute offers the following two trainings this April and May. Please click on the links to download brochures for more detailed information. NOTE: We are pleased to have the ability to offer a limited number of schol-

New* SPEAKER'S BUREAU

MARKET YOUR PRACTICE
CREATE YOUR OWN NICHE
BUILD YOUR REPUTATION

All you have to do is...

Join the IE CAMFT Speakers Bureau at the next chapter meeting and we'll work with you in getting "out there". We will support your efforts whether you're a first-time beginner or a more practiced speaker. We will have a sign-up sheet that will become available to many community groups and organizations who might be interested in CAMFT speakers and we will then coordinate speakers and topics for workshops and speaking engagements. Get involved with your local chapter and let the speaker's bureau work for YOU! If you can't make it to a chapter meeting, sign up on the internet. We also would like some volunteers to make a few cold calls to the community to increase awareness of the speakers bureau (what a great excuse to get your name in the door!).

If you would like to sign up for the Speakers List, please send the following to John Elder: Name, Contact Information, Area\(s\) of interest, and a CV or Resume.

Contact: Catherine Wheeler at shrinkin@sbcglobal.net, Garry Raley at garral@sbcglobal.net, or John Elder at JohnElderMFT@yahoo.com for more information.

FEDERAL LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Medicare

In 2009, legislation that would provide Medicare coverage for MFTs was passed in the House of Representatives (H.R. 3962) version of Health Care Reform (“HCR”). Further, a commitment was made to include the MFT provision in the Senate version of HCR. Although CAMFT was hopeful that Medicare inclusion for MFTs be placed in the final HCR bill (which was scheduled to go forward in 2010), based on the new make-up of Congress, it is unlikely that HCR will move forward. Whether or not HCR does move forward, does not mean our issue is dead. Congress is likely to enact some type of Medicare legislation in 2010, and our challenge will be to get into the vehicle that will go to the President.

Department of Veterans Affairs

The Department of Veterans Affairs (“DVA”) recently indicated that their plan was to complete the new MFT qualification standards by September 2010. Subject Matter Expert (SME) workgroups have been established and are meeting weekly to develop separate qualification standards. Once the draft qualification standards are developed, the DVA will formally submit a request to the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) to establish a new, separate occupational series for MFTs. CAMFT remains committed to helping usher these long overdue standards into reality to enable the VA facilities to recruit and hire MFTs in VA Medical Centers, Outpatient Clinics, and Veterans Outreach Centers.

Federal Mental Health Parity Regulations

Federal regulations (which are necessary to implement the Federal Mental Health Parity law which passed in 2009) were released on January 29, 2010. The public comment period to express concerns or suggestions about the parity regulations will close April 29, 2010. CAMFT will be submitting comments requesting greater clarification of certain sections, including but not limited to scope of services, and exact conditions/diagnoses included within mental health and substance use coverage. If you wish to view or comment on the parity regulations, please see the following link: <http://www.regulations.gov/search/Regs/home.html#documentDetail?R=090000648096e4d2>

U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission

Currently, federal regulations only allow licensed psychiatrists, licensed psychologists, and licensed clinical social workers to work as “Substance Abuse Experts” within the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (“NRC”). The stated knowledge, training, and education requirements to become an NRC Substance Abuse Expert are well within the MFT scope of practice, and therefore MFTs should be included as potential providers. CAMFT will submit a Petition for Rulemaking (or a 10 CFR 2.802 action) to request that the NRC amend their regulations to allow MFTs to be included as Substance Abuse Experts.

Government Employees Health Association

Effective January 1, 2010, the Government Employees Health Association (a company that provides health care insurance to federal employees/retirees) will include MFTs as covered health care providers. The Government Employees Health Association provides health care insurance to over 400,000 employees/retirees. For more information about becoming a panel provider for the Government Employees Health Association, please call 816-257-5500.

For more information on the information above, please call CAMFT at 888-892-2638 and ask to speak to Mary Riemersma or Cathy Atkins.

In Praise of Women Healers
An Editorial by
Carol A. Bouldin, M.S., LMFT

In the spirit of Women's History month, I would like to acknowledge all of the women academicians, therapists, and writers who have contributed to the body of knowledge from which we therapists have developed a deeper understanding and appreciation for female psychology. We owe a debt to a long list of women throughout history whose contributions have been invaluable.

When I first got my license, nearly thirty years ago now, awareness of the female experience was just beginning to be expanded to include the prevalence of child abuse, particularly child sexual abuse and incest, domestic violence, co-dependency, sexual harassment, and rape. These were topics that generated tremendous shame as it had long been taboo to talk about them or to confront the familial dynamics or social enculturation and complicity within which they occurred. Prior to this, when women attempted to voice these experiences and the feelings they engendered, they were often disbelieved, characterized as "too sensitive", their symptoms dismissed as "all in (their) heads", or labeled as "crazy", and too often outpatient treatment consisted of the palliative prescription of minor tranquilizers which, in turn, often led to addiction. Women hospitalized against their will before the Lanterman-Petris-Short Act, passed in 1967 and which gave us the familiar 5150 terminology that limits the circumstances and amount of time one can be involuntarily hospitalized, were often subjected to ECT and lobotomies in the 1940's and 1950's for "involitional melancholia". Before this, women could even be committed to sanitariums by their husbands for indeterminate periods of time.

The writings of women such as Alice Miller (The Drama of the Gifted Child; Prisoners of Childhood; For Your Own Good), Carol Gilligan (In a Different Voice), Susan Forward (Betrayal of Innocence; Men Who Hate Women and the Women Who Love Them), Jean Baker Miller (Toward a New Psychology of Women) to name a few, were very instrumental in helping the therapeutic community better understand these issues and more effectively treat women clients. Though not necessarily with conscious intent, the field had previously been dominated by the male viewpoint and the female perspective had been widely misunderstood and systematically invalidated. Alice Miller, from whom John Bradshaw's work is informed, exposed the toxic effects of what she terms "poisonous pedagogy", a form of child-rearing which utilized psychological and physical abuse to achieve breaking a child's spirit in order to induce obedience at any price. Jean Baker Miller examined the power differential between men and women when writing about domination of males and subordination of women. Susan Forward revealed the emotional devastation and psychological harm that follows the betrayal of trust inherent in sexual abuse and validated the high incidence of incest. Carol Gilligan reframed women's moral development as springing from a relational sensibility, equal to the detached application of "justice" characteristic of male development, previously viewed as the standard against which to be compared.

The work of these women draws on important earlier writing by feminists in the women's movement that broke new ground re-evaluating commonly-held assumptions regarding women's roles, abilities, and rights. Women writers such as Carol Hanisch (The Personal is Political), Kate Millett (Sexual Politics), Betty Friedan (The Feminine Mystique), Gloria Steinem (Feminist Family Values, Outrageous Acts & Everyday Rebellions), Germaine Greer (The Female Eunuch), Rosemary Radford Ruether (Gaia & God: An Ecofeminist Theology of Earth Healing; Goddesses & the Divine Feminine: A Western Religious History), Mary Daly (The Church & the Second Sex) have examined how woman has been portrayed negatively culturally and religiously and the impact of these influences on women and society.

In turn, the work of these women was made possible by early feminists such as Susan B. Anthony who made countless speeches on women's rights, Elizabeth Cady Stanton (The Woman's Bible), Lucretia Mott (Discourse on Woman), Mary Wollstonecraft (A Vindication of the Rights of Woman), as well as many others who make up our rich herstory.

We as women have a proud legacy as healers of the human spirit; we are wise to explore and celebrate it both for our own healing, growth, enlightenment, and self-esteem as well as for that of our female clients. Hopefully this brief synopsis can spark an interest in exploring this topic in more depth and I invite you to do so in celebration of March as Women's History month!

Call for Resources

Donate counseling to veterans—they receive pro bono services and, in exchange, the veteran chooses from a list of community agencies where they may volunteer their time. See www.giveanhour.org.

If you have experience treating families with military service (with or without PTSD expertise), call or email State CAMFT.

Mental Health Network Government Services is also recruiting professionals as Marriage and Family Life Consultants —
